

ACCREDITATION, REGISTRATION AND MEDIA GUIDELINES

MEDIA ACCREDITATION

Reporters and editors are welcome and invited to cover the event. Please note the following limitations on accreditation:

- Only members of the working press will be accredited, and you must be planning to write a story or cover the event in your publication or media outlet.
- When requesting accreditation, please provide evidence of publication affiliation, including copy of publication or link to publication Web site. For freelance journalists, evidence of assignment and copy of earlier published articles is required.
- Media accreditation is NOT provided for marketing managers and publishers of publications, PR firms, Analyst and consultancies.

AWEA asks that, as a courtesy, if you intend to quote a speaker or reproduce materials from their presentation, you identify yourself to the speaker before or after the person's presentation, so that they know you may be writing about the presentation.

Reporters are encouraged to work with the designated AWEA media contact to request an interview with a particular speaker or to obtain a speaker's contact information if that is not available in the workshop materials.

TV, filming and photography are NOT allowed unless prior authorization from AWEA and from individual speakers has been secured. Since it is sometimes not possible to give authorization on the spot (as some speakers need to consult with their company before giving authorization), AWEA encourages reporters to plan their requests ahead of time. NO LIGHTING or interference with the session is permitted. IF YOU PLAN TO TAPE OR FILM a speaker or any portion of the workshop, PLEASE inform the designated AWEA contact in advance of the conference windmail@awea.org
